Neal Krause, PhD
Research Affiliate, Population Studies Center, Institute for Social Research
Professor Emeritus, Health Behavior & Health Education
University of Michigan

Dr. Neal Krause received his PhD in Sociology from Akron University-Kent State University and completed a postdoctoral fellowship at Indiana University. He is the author of about 300 refereed journal articles. His research focuses on stress and the resources people use to cope with it. Specifically, he is interested in stress and health among older adults, and religion and health in later life. In 2013, Professor Krause was awarded the Distinguished Career Contribution to Gerontology Award by the Behavioral and Social Sciences section of the Gerontological Society of America.
