Campus Community Bar Retail Coalition
December 13, 2012

Attendees

Ron Alting, Senator
Jeffrey Barbee, Neon Cactus
Jeanette Bennett, Indiana Criminal Justice Institute
Eric Brady, Neon Cactus
Angie Brown, Jake’s
Danita Brown, Office of the Dean of Students
Carol Casey, Bar Barry Liquors
Sheila Cochran, Neon Cactus
Mary Cook, Harry’s Chocolate Shoppe
John Cox, Purdue University Police Department
Jason Dombkowski, West Lafayette Police Department
Laura Donaldson, Purdue Student Government
Jenna Dormer, Tobacco Free Partnership
Bobby Eagan, Purdue Student Government
Swen Ervin, Purdue Graduate Student Government
Jeff Fader, Bar Barry Liquors
David Ferry, Brothers
Charles Fry, Jake’s
Mary Helen Halsema, University Residences
Tim Heath, West Lafayette Fire Department
Ann Hunt, West Lafayette City Council
Chico Jenson, Student Wellness Office
Aaron Johnson, Probation
Kate Kerrigan, Drug-Free Coalition of Tippecanoe County
Chris Leroux, West Lafayette Police Department
Corey Linkel, Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities
Tammy Loew, Student Wellness Office
Kristen McVey, Prosecutor’s Office
Mike Piggott, Community Relations
Ben Reiling, Bar Barry Liquors
Bev Shaw, City of West Lafayette
Tony Schutter, West Lafayette Fire Department
Chris Sigurdson, External Relations, Purdue
Lisa Smith, Court Services
Dave Sommers, Mad Mushroom
Gary Sparger, West Lafayette Police Department
Dan St. John, Village Bottle Shoppe
Jeff Stefancic, Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities
Sanford Swanson, Indiana State Excise Police
Diedra Tate, Office of the Dean of Students
Adam Toering, Jake’s
Eric Weddle, Journal and Courier

Meeting Notes

Jason Dombkowski, West Lafayette Police Chief:

Football season was successful as there were no large issues with accidents, injuries, or incidents. It was the first year for the barricades for all seven games, which will continue next year. WLPD has had positive feedback on the barricade program. Police presence may increase in the Levee on dates that Neon Cactus hosts breakfast clubs. Alcohol arrests were down 37% from 2011.

Tim Heath, West Lafayette Fire Chief:

This was the first year that the fire department had an active presence in the Village during breakfast club. Having the medics and fire department nearby improved response time and safety, and this practice will continue next year. The occupancy issues and the lines outside of bars have been addressed well. It is much easier to access the inner bar areas during medical emergencies.

John Cox, Purdue Police Chief:

The roundabout worked well during football season. With 231 opening in 2013, traffic flow on game days will continue to improve. The fall 2012 alcohol statistics were lower than in 2011, trending downward in all categories except drug-related arrests. The alternative tailgating area was successful.

Tammy Loew, Student Wellness Office:

The breakfast club bar assessment had excellent participation by campus and community partners. Some of the highlights included: food service, excellent I.D. checking, and the Neon Cactus bus service. Most patrons were not intoxicated, had sober drivers, and appreciated the barricades. The biggest challenge participants observed was overserving intoxicated patrons. In addition, some students reported concerns about intoxicated people being thrown out of bars without someone to care for them.

Visit our website at www.purdue.edu/ccbrc
Sanford Swanson, Indiana State Excise Police:

The Intensive College Enforcement (ICE) program occurred throughout the fall semester, which they believe resulted in behavior change. Continuation of the program will depend on funding renewal. Future initiatives include assessing overservice issues.

Sven Ervin, Graduate Student Government:

Grad student needs are different than for the undergraduate population. Grad students appreciate more lounge-oriented establishments that serve an international population between 25-35 years old.

Bobby Egan, Purdue Student Government:

Bobby expressed concerns by Purdue Student Government about the ICE program and the way it is targeting students. Some of PSG’s priorities include promoting the new Indiana “Lifeline” law and the medical amnesty program.

Senator Ron Alting:

Senator Alting thanked the restaurant and bar owners for going the extra mile to keep the community safe. There are several pieces of alcohol-related legislation that will be introduced during the next legislative session, including: Sunday sales/cold beer sales, micro brewed beer sales at farmers’ markets, local wineries eliminating face-to-face protocol before mailing alcohol, tweaking of the server training law, and the state liquor license expansion.