

Photo by David Smiley

playwright
Margaret Edson

Cancer Culture & Community
EXPLORING THE HUMAN EXPRESSION OF CANCER THROUGH THE ARTS & LITERATURE

The Pulitzer Prize-winning play, W;t, follows the journey of Vivian Bearing, a professor of English, who is diagnosed with terminal ovarian cancer. Through her illness she begins to assess her life and work anew in this profound and humorous journey of transformation.

Special screening of the movie W;t
November 5, 2008 • 7:00 p.m.
Long Center • Lafayette

Scenes from W;t with Margaret Edson

Playwright Margaret Edson will lecture on scenes from her play, W;t, performed by Purdue Theatre.

November 6 • 7:30 p.m. • Fowler Hall

Writing Workshop with Margaret Edson

November 7 • 11:30 a.m. & 1:30 p.m. • STEW 310

Scenes and Discussion with Margaret Edson

November 7 • 3:00 p.m.

Mallett Theatre • Pao Hall of Visual & Performing Arts