

Ann Bessenbacher

Ann Bessenbacher is Project Coordinator for the Discovery Learning Center. She previously worked as a data analyst with Space Management and Academic Scheduling here at Purdue University. Before that Ann served as the Data Operations Manager at the National Snow and Ice Data Center in Boulder, Colorado. She has over ten years of experience in data management/analysis in both scientific and administrative areas. She also has previous experience in presenting and assisting with the development of educational programs. She holds bachelors degrees in both Mathematics/Computer Science and Industrial Management from Purdue University.