10 Things You Can Do

To Honor Dr. King’s Legacy

1. Use the DiversiKey MLK Media Resource List to increase your knowledge on Dr. King’s work. Share your insights on this work with family, friends, and social media.

2. Submit an essay to the College of Liberal Arts’ MLK Essay Contest—Submissions are due December 31, 2016.

3. Volunteer for Martin Luther King Day of Service

4. Submit a nomination for the Diversity Resource Office’s 2017 MLK Dreamer Award. Nominations are open to students, faculty, staff, alumni and organizations.

5. Attend the MLK Keynote address by Harry Belafonte’s on Jan 17th, 2017 at Loeb Playhouse, starting at 7pm. Learn more about Harry Belafonte’s social activist work at www.purdue.edu/dro.

6. Reflect on the displays dedicated to MLK developed by Purdue Library faculty and staff from Jan 9-16th, 2017

7. Attend the screening of “Black Purdue” and the panel discussion on Jan 17th, 2017 in Pflendler Hall room 241, from 12pm-1:30pm

8. Attend the lecture “Looking at the Civil Rights Movement vs. Black Lives Matter” by Dr. Kai Green on Jan 18th, 2017 in Pflender Hall room 241, from 12pm-1:30pm.

9. Attend in a Emotional Intelligence Workshop by David G. Lewis that connects emotional intelligence with issues of diversity and inclusion on Jan 19, 2017 (see flyer for workshop times)

10. Attend “Songs of Freedom—Negro Spirituals and Their Meaning” on Jan 20, 2017 in Pflender Hall room 241, from 12pm-1:30pm.