Clinical Colloquium
PSY 692, Proseminar in Clinical Psychology
Purdue University, 2017-2018

BASIC INFORMATION
Meetings: Fridays, 2:30-3:30
Coordinator: Katherine M. Thomas, Ph.D.
Location: Peirce 277
Email: katethomas@purdue.edu

Goals: The general aim of our weekly clinical colloquium involves meeting as an area to discuss and learn about contemporary issues in clinical psychological science. Our meeting formats are roughly divided into thirds, with each meeting satisfying at least one of the following aims: 1) student/faculty presentations, 2) topics related to ethnic/cultural diversity in clinical science, or 3) external speakers.

Expectations: Students are required to present their first-year project, at least one other empirical project, and one clinical case during their time in the program. All students are strongly encouraged to give at least one presentation every academic year.

Attendance: We expect students (and faculty) to attend colloquium barring an excused absence. Please email me dates you know will miss (e.g., for a conference, religious holiday, etc.) or if you need to miss for an unexpected reason (e.g., a personal/family illness).

Evaluations: Students will be graded (pass/fail) on their attendance and participation in colloquium each semester.

Non-Discrimination: Purdue is committed to maintaining a community that recognizes and values the inherent worth and dignity of every person; fosters tolerance, sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among its members; and encourages each individual to strive to reach his or her own potential. Discrimination against anyone on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, age, national origin, political preferences, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, disability, or status as a veteran is prohibited and may result in your dismissal from colloquium or a failing course grade.
