Biography: Dr. Wainer received her Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Michigan State University and completed her clinical internship at JFK Partners at the University of Colorado School of Medicine, where she specialized in work with individuals with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and their families. She is currently a postdoctoral research fellow at the Autism Assessment, Research, Treatment, and Services (AARTS) Center at Rush University Medical Center in Chicago, IL. Her primary research interests involve developing and evaluating interventions and service delivery models for children with ASD, with the ultimate goal of increasing the accessibility of evidence-based services for this high needs population. She also has nearly a decade of experience working with children with ASD and their families in various clinical settings.