VISTA Volunteer
NIWRC Main Office, Lame Deer, MT
Start Date: January 2017
About the NIWRC: The National Indigenous Women’s Resource Center, Inc. (NIWRC) is a non-profit organization, with 501(c)(3) certification from the IRS, dedicated to ending violence against Native women and children. The overall goal of the NIWRC is to restore safety to Native women by upholding the sovereignty of Indian and Alaska Native tribes. Our Board consists of Native women from throughout the United States with extensive experience and commitment to providing technical assistance/training and resource information regarding violence committed against Native women and their children. This leadership ensures that our work supports and upholds grassroots advocacy and policy development work to improve the prevention of and response family violence. Further, NIWRC’s staff brings decades of expertise regarding violence against Native women, each having worked in various capacities to build a strong grassroots movement to increase the response within tribes to domestic violence and safety for Indian women. Pen Predoctoral Fellowships for Excellence through Diversity
The University of Pennsylvania is pleased to invite applications for the 2017-18 Predoctoral Fellowships for Excellence through Diversity. These awards are designed to provide mentorship and access to Penn’s resources for doctoral students in the humanities or social sciences, enrolled in graduate or professional programs at universities other than Penn, as they complete their dissertations. The Fellowships are intended to support scholars from a wide range of backgrounds, who can contribute to the diversity of Penn and the higher education community. For more information, [click here].
