From the Sinister pen of:
The Purdue University Cultural Centers

We’re so happy, we could SCREAM!
Why? Because it’s HALLOWEEN!
Our CRYPTS ARE OPEN, our BOWLS ARE FILLED,
the MUSIC is playing, the PUNCH is CHILLED!

Stop by each of our Purdue cultural centers on Tuesday, October 31st
Anytime between the hours of 11am - 4pm
Wear a costume, get a selfie,
Enjoy a refreshment or treat,
While you’re there, check out each center
And see what resources we have to offer!
Native American Heritage Month
Keynote Presentation:
Uncovering Indigenous Identity

A panel of Indigenous students explore facets of Indigenous identity: sovereignty, self-determination, displacement, education, and awareness. Students will move a conversation often burdened by stereotypes and misinformation to discuss the barriers and insights they face.
Facilitated by Terese Mailhot, Tecumseh Postdoctoral Fellow.

Wednesday, November 1
6:00 - 8:00 pm • STEW 214AB

Indigenous Women’s Resilience: Our Stories

Thursday, November 2 | 11:30 am - 1:00 pm | NAECC

Storytelling, “Yarning,” and “Talking Story” have been essential forms of communication for Indigenous People for centuries and the oral tradition continues to be focal point for sharing traditions and history. Join us as we welcome Salish, Yuin, and Dine’ women share some of their stories and the importance of social activism, advocating for lost voices, and remembering elders and traditions. Food will be served. Sponsored by NAECC and Civic Engagement and Leadership Development

NAECC Visiting Artist: Karen Ann Hoffman
Beaded Strawberry Broach Workshop

Tuesday, November 14 | 3:00 – 5:00 pm | NAECC
