OnePurdue Organizational Communicators,

We’d like to update you on some important OnePurdue- and ESA-related issues and news. Please share this information with faculty and staff members in your area as you deem appropriate. (This also will be communicated in Purdue Today and faculty and staff orientation material.)

- A document outlining the transition schedule from SSINFO and SIS to myPurdue is now online. It lists various features of SSINFO and SIS, when they will be moved from their current system, and where they will be located after their transition to myPurdue is complete. The document can be found here: http://www.purdue.edu/onepurdue/ESA/documents/ssinfo-sis_mp_transition.pdf

A link to it also can be found on the Enrollment and Student Affairs page of the OnePurdue Web site: http://www.purdue.edu/onepurdue/ESA/index.shtml

- Some typographical characters in Purdue Career Account passwords cause problems when trying to access Internet Native Banner (INB), resulting in this error message: TNS could not resolve the connect identifier specified. Therefore, faculty and staff using INB need to make sure their passwords do not contain any unacceptable symbols or punctuation. A list of characters not allowed by INB can be found here: https://help.itap.purdue.edu/3328

(A valid Career Account username and password is required to access this Web page.)

- The new ESAnews (OnePurdue’s electronic newsletter about the ESA implementation) is now online and can be read here: http://www.purdue.edu/onepurdue/about/newsletters/esanewscurrent.shtml

This newsletter includes important information about preparation for the final Banner release in July, myPurdue demonstration videos, Cognos and Banner security, among other topics.

Previous issues of ESAnews can be found on this page: http://www.purdue.edu/onepurdue/about/newsletters/index.shtml

If you have questions about anything in this e-mail, please contact Adedayo Adeniyi at aadeniyi@purdue.edu or (765) 49-41683.
