HOW TO INTERPRET THIS TABLE:

- o Left-hand column is audience (department or major audience group)
- o Across the top is the course list -- online courses, then hand-on courses appear, left to right.
- o Generally, these represent a sequence from introductory to more advanced topics. Training participants would complete their check-marked courses, starting with those on the left and working their way one by one to the right.
- o Green shading in leftmost column = start of a new department/audience.
- o Green check mark = EVERYONE in that department or audience takes these courses.
- o If there are multiple subsections in a department/group (i.e., different groups do different things and may need different training):
  - On page 1, see the example of Admissions. The WHOLE staff will take BANNAV100, BANNAV200 (when it's available), SOV100, SADMS200, and SADMS210.
  - In addition, the staff assigned the Admissions User 2 role will also take the SADMS220 course.

(Note: Grey shading indicates Rel. 3 Financial Aid courses. Online courses continue to be available for enrollment, although hands-on courses have been concluded.)
