

ANTH 640 FOUNDATIONS & FRAMEWORKS FOR APPLYING ANTHROPOLOGY

Wed. 11:30 – 2:20

DR. ZOE NYSSA

*How can I use my education in the “real world”?
How do I have a career that fits my values?
How can I gain the experience I need while in school?*

This project-based course prepares you to solve real-world problems using applied social science approaches in settings such as non-profits, the private sector, STEM fields, government, development, media, health organizations, and more. You will meet professionals in your own field and develop a portfolio of work. In a unique partnership with the City of West Lafayette, students will also gain experience working as social science consultants for the Neighborhood Vitality Initiative. 2022 Theme: “Plan your Park”

NO PRIOR EXPERIENCE REQUIRED!
STUDENTS FROM ALL PROGRAMS AND FIELDS WELCOME!
