Purdue University Teaching Academy Day &
TA@20: Current luncheon

STEW 214A-C & PMU East Faculty Lounge

In an ongoing effort to share the network of teaching expertise and resources available to Purdue faculty, approximately 20 Academy members will share their insights on teaching topics during the 3rd Annual Teaching Academy Day, October 26, 2016.

Please feel free to sit in on as many of the sessions in the Stewart Center as your schedule allows, and to network with the presenters and other participants. It is part of the Teaching Academy’s mission to provide opportunities for all interested faculty, staff and graduate students to talk, learn, and work together on important and meaningful educational initiatives. A detailed schedule will be sent to you a week before TA Day. No registration is required to attend the sessions.

In addition to attending great presentations during the Teaching Academy Day, we also hope you will also join us for lunch from 11:45 to 1:30 pm as we recognize the 20th anniversary of the Teaching Academy with a discussion of current interests and issues of Academy members, and future programming to address them. The TA@20: Current luncheon will be held in the Purdue Memorial Union East Faculty Lounge. Registrations for the luncheon may be made here, no later than 5 p.m., Oct. 20.

As the largest body of experienced educators and teachers on the Purdue University West Lafayette campus, the Teaching Academy provides leadership, and serves as a catalyst to enhance and strengthen the quality of undergraduate, graduate, and outreach teaching and learning.

We hope you will be able to take advantage and participate in some of the activities of the Teaching Academy Day on October 23rd, 2016.

Sincerely,
David Rollock
