

INDIANA FOOD SUMMIT

Healthy Food Access and Financing Stakeholders

Tuesday 26 September 2017

Network with others in your region and state

Institutional Support of Local Food Production: Learn how health, farmer and non-profit organizations are producing food for the home consumer: Christine Davies, Community Hospital Anderson; Karen Mitchell, Grow Local Lafayette; Sherri Dugger, Indiana Farmers Union Moderating

Engaging Your Elected Officials: How to tell your story and make it meaningful for our representatives - Tamara Ogle, Purdue Extension, will present and moderate a panel from Indiana Farm Bureau, Indiana Cooperative Development Center and Prosperity Indiana

From the Field: How are Indiana's Food councils working on policies and programming for change? Emily Toner is moderating a panel of representatives from food councils from across Indiana – find out what is going on!

What is the Healthy Food Financing Initiative? How it can it help address food deserts and healthy food access in Indiana? - Tony Gillespie and the Indiana Healthy Food Access Coalition will share findings from the summer community forums, Legislative sessions and update activities planned for fall 2017.

Walking Tour: Food Production in the City – Join Emily Toner, Purdue Extension, for a walking tour of two-three urban farms and gardens. This tour will walk from the Conference center to the IUPUI DIGS Gardens and the Eskenazi Sky Farm at Eskenazi Health.

Bus Tour: Flanner House and Urban Farm – Join Sherri Dugger, Indiana Farmers Union on a tour of Flanner House and their new urban farm. Learn more about how food production can be a part of an organization focused on youth development. Visit with Johnathan Lawler of Brandywine Creek Farms to learn about urban food production to address food insecurity.

Early Bird Registration ends September 11, 2017!

$50 for Conference Day, $25 for Evening Networking Faire

$75 for Pre-conference workshop on Healthier Food Retail

Opportunities to host a table as a Summit Sponsor for $150