

INDIANA FOOD SUMMIT

Professional Small Business Advisors

Plan to attend the 2017 Indiana Food Summit

Food Finance Train the Trainer Workshop

Level 1 – Business Model Optimization - Our Level 1 training provides an in-depth look what food, beverage and value-added farm businesses need to do to optimize their business model and capital structure for profitability. This includes a discussion of current market trends in the sector, the basics of conducting market research, various business models in food (and their accompanying metrics/capital structure) as well as in-depth case studies of business model optimization with one or more of the business models presented. View a sample agenda here.

$125 includes two-day registration, lunches, parking, materials and certificate of completion

Monday 9/25 9am-5pm + Tuesday 9/26 8am-12pm

Included: Food Summit Conference and Networking Luncheon

Cooking it up: Starting and Managing Entrepreneurial Shared Kitchens in Indiana:

Tanya Hall, Purdue Extension will share the results of our research on the Economic Contribution of shared-kitchens and moderate a fantastic panel of shared kitchen managers/owners: Spencer Mize, CookSpring (Fort Wayne); Artie Stevens, Indy's Kitchen; Jay Burton, One World Kitchen Share (Bloomington)

Sustainability, Quality of Place, Economic Development and... Local Food? Learn more about how local food and community development in Indiana

Tamara Ogle, Purdue Extension, will moderate a panel: Janet Katz, Northeast Indiana Local Food Network; Shellye Suttles, City of Indianapolis and Allyson Mitchell, Prosperity Indiana

Early Bird Registration ends September 11, 2017!

Add on! $25 for Evening Networking Faire

Opportunities to host a table as a Summit Sponsor for $150