She studied medicine at the University of Bonn, Germany, and did her Ph.D. thesis on 31P MR spectroscopy in patients with mitochondrial encephalomyopathies with "summa cum laude" in 1992. She completed her residency training at the Department of Radiology, University of Bonn, in 1998. She is a board certified radiologist, neuroradiologist and interventional radiologist. She is certified and licensed to training the entire field of Interventional Radiology. She became associate professor in 1999, and full professor of Radiology and vice chairman of the Department of Radiology of Bonn University in 2004. In 2008, she was elected as member of the presidency of Bonn University (Pro-Rektor). In 2010, she joined the Technical University of Aachen (RWTH) to become Chairman and Director of the Department of Diagnostic and Interventional Radiology at the RWTH University Hospital Aachen. RWTH belongs to one of the few "excellence universities" in Germany. Prof. Kuhl is an internationally recognized expert in the field of breast cancer imaging with a special emphasis in breast MRI. She has a long-standing track record in the diagnosis as well as the interventional treatment of cancer, and authored or co-authored well over 1000 papers and conference abstracts, including several highly-cited landmark papers on the use of MR imaging for breast cancer diagnosis. She served as Principal Investigator of several large single- and multi-institutional clinical trials studies in the field of oncologic imaging. She has received numerous awards, including e.g. the Mare-Curie-Ring (Holthusen Ring) of the German Roentgen Ray Society, the European Magnetic Resonance Award, the American College of Radiology Imaging Network (ACRIN) award, the Gold Medal of the ISMRM and of the European Society of Breast Imaging. She has been invited to lecture as Visiting Professor in numerous prestigious international institutions, and was invited to hold numerous named lectures at international conferences. She served as member of the working Group on Breast MRI of the United States Health Service's Office on Women's Health, Commission on Standards and Accreditation, and on the BI-RADS-Committee of the ACR.
