START OF THE SEMESTER TIPS

Get involved – Attend student organization call outs or participate in an undergraduate research opportunity. Have fun meeting new people on campus, just don’t forget to set aside enough time daily for your academics.

Create a semester plan – List all course deadlines in one spot, such as a planner. The Academic Success Center time management handouts are a great resource.

Attend class daily and use campus resources often – Falling behind early in the term can lead to future stress and failures. By being engaged in the classroom and taking advantage of campus resources all semester, such as office hours and SI, you will have a better understanding of course concepts.

Keep in touch – Your advisor is a great resource for all things Purdue, so reach out anytime.

SUPPLEMENTAL INSTRUCTION

What is it?
Free 50 minute peer-led study sessions for challenging courses at Purdue. All SI leaders have done well in the courses they lead.

Why should you go?
Purdue data shows that students who attend at least 8 sessions typically earn a half letter grade higher than their peers that do not attend.

When and Where?
Held between 4:30pm to 8:20pm at locations around campus: WALC, WILY, UNIV, REC, GRIS
