Faculty member or graduate student
  Faculty: Louis Tay
  Graduate Student: Louis Hickman

Description of research area
- Issues related to personality measurement in workplace personnel selection

Description of undergraduate participation
Two different positions are available for students: in the first, student will help with in-lab data collection. In the second, student will provide personality ratings for research participants who have recorded their responses to mock job interviews.

Research setting
- Data collection (i.e., running participants through research study in the lab)
- Providing personality ratings for research participant in mock job interviews (online)

Number of assistants needed
2

Contact information
Please contact Louis Hickman at lchickma@purdue.edu if you have any questions or would like more information.

Additional comments
- Minimum GPA required: 3.5
- Major in Psychology or related fields
- Although not a requirement, preference is given to students who have taken research methods and PSY 272: Introduction to IO Psychology
- For the position providing personality ratings, preference is given to students with a background in personality