JOHN VELEZ
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, THE MEDIA SCHOOL, INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Research and Interest Areas: Media Psychology, Video Games as an Entertainment Medium and as a Tool to Solve Issues in Education, Healthcare, Social Movements, and Workplace Environments

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

MEET & GREET / 3:15 - 4 P.M. / WALC 3090

Lamb School Faculty, graduate students, and upperclassmen interested in media research are welcome to join Dr. Jen Hoewe’s Media Effects Research class for a discussion and snacks. Scan the code or visit bit.ly/velezvisit to review the reading the class will be discussing for the day.

SPECIAL LECTURE / 5:30 - 6:45 P.M. / BRNG 1245

The vocabulary of wordless patient-provider communication: A visual interactive narrative intervention (VIN) for stroke survivors

Dr. Velez will discuss his research on an app-based health intervention for stroke survivors. The app is designed to help stroke victims understand and deal with their diagnosis and recovery through interactive narrative.

For more information, contact Dr. Brett Sherrick, bsherric@purdue.edu.