NOTICE REGARDING WELLNESS PROGRAM

Purdue University's Healthy Boiler is a voluntary wellness program, introduced January 2018, available to all benefits-eligible employees and spouses on a Purdue health plan. The program is administered according to federal rules permitting employer-sponsored wellness programs that seek to improve employee health or prevent disease, including the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008, and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, as applicable, among others. If you choose to participate in the wellness program you will be asked to complete a physical and provide height, weight, blood pressure and body mass index, as well as complete a biometric screening, which will include a blood test for A1c and LDL. You are not required to complete the physical or to participate in the blood test or other medical examinations.

However, employees and their covered spouses who choose to participate in the wellness program will receive an incentive of up to $175 per individual deposited in the employee’s health savings account or health reimbursement account for completion of physical and biometric screening. Although you are not required to complete the physical or participate in the biometric screening, only employees who do so will receive the incentive.

Additional incentives of up to $150 per individual, also deposited in the employees’ health savings account or health reimbursement account, may be available for employees who participate in Lifestyle Competency Modules on the Healthy Boiler portal.

The information from your physical and the results from your biometric screening will be used to provide you with information to help you understand your current health and potential risks, and may also be used to offer you services through the wellness program, such as, but not limited to health coaching, medication therapy or weight management. You also are encouraged to share your results or concerns with your own doctor.

Protections from Disclosure of Medical Information

We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your personally identifiable health information. Although the wellness program may use aggregate information it collects to design a program based on identified health risks in the workplace, The Healthy Boiler wellness program will never disclose any of your personal information either publicly, except as necessary to respond to a request from you for a reasonable accommodation needed to participate in the wellness program, or as expressly permitted by law. Medical information that personally identifies you that is provided in connection with the wellness program will not be provided to your supervisors or managers and may never be used to make decisions regarding your employment.

Your health information will not be sold, exchanged, transferred, or otherwise disclosed except to the extent permitted by law to carry out specific activities related to the wellness program, and you will not be asked or required to waive the confidentiality of your health information as a condition of participating in the wellness program or receiving an incentive. Anyone who receives your information for purposes of providing you services as part of the wellness program will abide by the same confidentiality requirements. The only individual(s) who will receive your personally identifiable health information is One to One Health physicians, nurse practitioners, pharmacist, dietician or health coaches in order to provide you with services under the wellness program.

In addition, all medical information obtained through the wellness program will be maintained separate from your personnel records, information stored electronically will be encrypted, and no information you provide as part of the wellness program will be used in making any employment decision. Appropriate precautions will be taken to avoid any data breach, and in the event a data breach occurs involving information you provide in connection with the wellness program, we will notify you immediately.

You may not be discriminated against in employment because of the medical information you provide as part of participating in the wellness program, nor may you be subjected to retaliation if you choose not to participate.

If you have questions or concerns regarding this notice, or about protections against discrimination and retaliation, please contact Human Resources at 765-494-2222 or hr@purdue.edu.
