Trials Summer 2024 Program at Harvard Law School

TRIALS is the Training and Recruitment Initiative for Admission to Leading Law Schools. TRIALS 2024, which will be hosted by Harvard Law School, will open on Friday, October 27th for applications. Deadline to apply is February 28th, 2024. This program aims to support students of modest means whose diverse backgrounds are underrepresented in America's top-rated JD programs. Trials is the nation's most rigorous and selective full-scholarship pre-law pipeline, preparing students of underrepresented backgrounds for admission to leading law schools. Trials students are selected on the basis of their compelling personal narratives, ability to overcome adversity, commitment to public service, and academic achievements. Trials is a full scholarship program. Students are not responsible for any tuition, fees, or related expenses. In addition to the academic curriculum of the program, every Trials student will receive: transportation to and from the host university campus, campus housing and daily meals for the duration of the five-week program access to the host university's library, computer centers, and gym. Each Trials student also receives a $3,000 stipend to replace or supplement summer employment income.
