The University Senate met online.

Senate Chair’s Remarks:

Professor Cheryl Cooky, Chair of the University Senate reported:
- Wish that everyone is doing well.
- Reassessment of items that truly matter and her focus on improved trust and collaboration with the Administration and the Board of Trustees.
- This collaboration will be even more important going forward and the Senate is in good hands.
- Important work by Univ. Senate committees.
- Wishes we could have done more however COVID-19 put some spring business on hold.
- Thanks to all who worked to make this a successful year. Your work is needed now, more than ever.
- Success is due to all those involved – working together toward a shared goal.

Purdue President’s Remarks:

President Mitch Daniels reiterated Professor Cooky’s thanks to everyone for all their efforts during these difficult times. He shared a quote, “The outlook for higher education is changing to negative…universities face unprecedented enrollment uncertainty, risks to multiple revenue streams, and potential material erosion in their balance sheets.” But then noted that “Affordable universities have a competitive advantage.”

President Daniels shared that Purdue intends to be open and operating in August, but noted that the final decision has not yet been made. Most of the efforts will be focused on the older & those with health issues – 20% (physical, etc.) because of the need to protect faculty and staff.

***************

Most of the work of the University Senate happens in committee. Standing Committees are composed of Senate members and university advisors. Faculty committees are composed of faculty members and often have non-faculty liaisons. Recommendations from committees come to the full Senate for consideration and vote.
