Continue operations in short term if federal government shuts down

November 13, 2023

Subcontractors,

Sandia leadership is monitoring the budget process as Congress works on a path that would fund the federal government past Friday, Nov. 17. An agreement has not been reached and a partial or full government shutdown could begin at midnight Friday.

If that happens, Sandia will operate in the short term using previous years' unspent funding. All subcontractors should continue to work to the terms of their subcontract including reporting to work on their next regularly scheduled workday, and in the days that follow, unless notified otherwise by their subcontracting professional.

Sandia is no stranger to negotiations on Capitol Hill and the uncertainty can be distracting and stressful. But we have weathered these situations before, and I thank you for continuing to stay focused on our important national security work. We will keep you posted on any developments. Contact your Sandia Delegated Representatives (SDRs) with questions.
