January GMP Meeting
“Research Dilemmas and Sticky Situations”

Save the date! Our January meeting will be held on MONDAY, 1/27 at 5:30 pm at Amelia’s. The topic will be “Research Dilemmas and Sticky Situations.” We will be doing a “workshop style” meeting with case studies of our own “dilemmas” that specifically have affected graduate women in engineering. Please RSVP at the link below:

Purdue Galleries on Monday and Tuesday (Jan. 13 and 14) will open two new exhibits, one a retrospective of printmaker David Driesbach and the other a roomful of figurative sculptures by Emily Trick.

"Moonlight Cocktails are the Thing" will be presented from Jan. 13 through Feb. 22 in the Robert L. Ringel Gallery in Stewart Center. From 5:30-7 p.m. Jan. 23 Purdue Galleries will host an opening reception for the "Moonlight Cocktails are the Things" exhibition in the Robert L. Ringel Gallery in Stewart Center. This retrospective of his work includes original intaglios and lithographs, along with printing plates and working proofs, providing access to Driesbach's complete creative process. The exhibition was organized by the Northern Illinois University Art Museum.

Emily Trick: "Imagined, Desired, and the Factual" will be presented from Jan. 14 through Feb. 22 in the new Fountain Gallery in downtown Lafayette. From 5:30-7 pm Jan. 17, Purdue Galleries will host an opening reception for the "Imagined, Desired, and the Factual" exhibition at the Fountain Gallery in downtown Lafayette. Emily Trick's sculpture is mostly figurative but the process in which they are created is loosely structured, allowing direct gestural manipulations that break the figure into fragmented surfaces held together more by an idea of the figure rather than by its direct representation.

Support Hours Will be Back Returning!

Support hours will be suspended until the second week of next term. We’ll be announcing the schedule in coming newsletters and at the January meeting. In the meantime, if you need any support from us please email wiepmm@ecn.purdue.edu and we will schedule a time for one of the LT members to meet with you.
